

I am a long time listener and financial supporter of KLOVE. I am a single parent fighting against a world hell bent on perverting and desensitizing my children. My children can listen to positive words and thoughts by the music and DJs and I am not in fear of the words.. or sounds of the commercials because there are none. I was in the Army and have lived in 6 states, all of which had a KLOVE station. This station gives all parents, Christians and seekers a safe station to leave on in the car or in the house. They are a great service to the children and give counsel to the teens and adults... for free. Cutting the public's access to this station would be a disservice to the community.
